

Front end developer

Are you an ambitious front end developer? Are you passionate about tech? Do you have a deep understanding of UX design process? Are you enthusiastic about the agile way of working? Good news, we're looking for you!

Zoom Media is specialized in developing speech recognition software and ASR engines for all kind of different languages. Our newest asset is Zoom Script, a customer app to transcribe audio files. We believe in the Human Feedback Loop and integrate it in all of our products. We work with a team of motivated developers and we're looking for someone who can train and stimulate them to create awesome products for our target group.

What you will do?

- You and your teammates will translate customer requirements into awesome features on our website and applications.
- During a SCRUM sprint you make sure that we deliver top-notch and well tested front-end code.
  - Innovation, page load and performance are important to you. You are fluent with HTML5, CSS3 (SASS), Javascript and modern SPA frameworks (Angular or Vue.JS) and keep yourself up-to-date with the latest trends in front-end development.
  - You work in a structured manner and your code has a strict separation of structure, presentation and behaviour.
- Together with the team of designers and back-end developers, you'll determine what is technically feasible and you provide accurate time estimates for projects.

Requirements

- Prefer bachelor in computer science or similar.
- Extensive and demonstrable knowledge of HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript
- Experience with a frontend framework like Angular, React or VueJS
  - Experience with creating mobile and responsive design.
  - Online portfolio or recent examples of your front-end work
- You speak fluent English and are happy to in a international environment.

What we offer you

- An entrepreneurial and fun work environment;
- Training to realize your goals and time and budget to develop your skills.
  - Time set aside for experimenting with new technologies.
- A dynamic environment with flat hierarchies, short decision-making processes in which everyone makes a difference and significantly contributes to our product and growth.
  - A good salary, 20 vacation days and fun team activities.